

DEANNE WOODRING

Deanne grew up in Portland and her family skied on Mt Hood. She raced for the Mt Hood Racing Team at Mt. Hood Ski Bowl. Deanne won the Buddy Werner Championships and has been a lifelong advocate of skiing and ski racing.

A graduate of the University of Oregon, Deanne founded her own Registered Investment Advisory Firm in 2014 and manages over $12 billion in investments for municipalities across the country. She now spends most of her time in Hood River enjoying the outdoors.

Deanne and her partner Erik Otterholt and their daughter Samantha Woodring, an alumnus of the Pacific Northwest Ski Division, embraced the friendships and learned many life-long lessons from Ski racing.
