

DYLAN WATTS

Dylan is a native of Anchorage, Alaska, a hotbed for Nordic skiing in the United States. Dylan competed in regional and national level Nordic events as a junior racer and, as an undergraduate at Williams College, and then coaching domestically and internationally for the Alaska Pacific University Nordic Ski Center.

Now in Bend, Oregon Dylan has done a turn as MBSEF Nordic Director and looks forward to being involved with ski racing in the northwest until at least 2040 when his youngest child graduates from high school.
